Honolulu Further Charged With Complicity in Setting on Foot a Military Expedition Against India and Conspiring to Aid Germany

ment handed down in San Francisco was not expected to reach Honolulu until next Wednesday, at which time it was expected that Schroeder would immediately be placed under arrest by the United States marshal and then returned to San Francisco for arraignment in the federal court there.

Radio advice received last night by U. S. Attorney S. C. Huber, however, requested that Schroeder be immediately arrested, placed under a bond of $10,000 and then sent to San Francisco.

Surrenders Voluntarily
Marshal Jerome J. Smiddy was to serve the warrant and complaint this morning, but before these documents were completed Schroeder appeared before the federal officials at about 10 o'clock and voluntarily surrendered himself.

According to the U. S. attorney's office, Schroeder has retained the law firm of Thompson, Milverton & Cathcart as his attorney. This firm also represents H. Hackfeld & Co., by whom Schroeder is employed in the capacity of clerk in the insurance department. The law firm was in communication with Attorney Huber this morning regarding Schroeder's bond.

Shortly before the release of Schroeder had been approved and signed, the Hartford Insurance Co., of Hartford, Conn., being the surety.

Schroeder who had been in custody only temporarily, was then allowed his freedom. According to Marshal Smiddy, he will be returned to San Francisco on the steamer, which will probably be the Wilhelmina next Tuesday. He will go to San Francisco unaccompanied, as the bond made here this morning is for his appearance before the proper federal officials in San Francisco.

The insurance company that has gone on Schroeder's bond is in same as is now surety for the $10,000 bond required of Georg Rodiek when he was arrested in San Francisco.

According to federal officials, no other information has reached here regarding the complicity of other residents of Honolulu in the Hindu plot. With Rodiek already in San Francisco, and with Schroeder now under arrest, the officials here are inclined to believe that the indictment is closed as far as Honolulu is concerned.

Schroeder and Rodiek are both charged with having taken part in the plot engineered by pro-Germans on the mainland and Hindu students in mainland universities and colleges to foment a gigantic rebellion in India, the purpose, it is believed, being to overthrow the English control in India and set up a republican form of government.

Associated Press despatches received by the Star-Bulletin shortly after the paper had published the first details of the Rodiek arrest.

FEDERAL JUDGE GIVES WARNING AS TO TREASON

Applications of Four Germans for Citizenship Dismissed as They Filed Final Papers After U. S. Had Declared War

Solemn warning was given this morning by Federal Judge Joseph Poindexter against the committing of treason or misprision of treason when he dismissed the applications of four alien Germans for naturalization which have been filed since war was declared against their native country.

The applications of the Germans were dismissed by the judge because the naturalizations prohibit the naturalizing of enemy aliens during the period of war, if their applications for final papers are filed after the war begins. Recently two Germans were admitted to citizenship, both of them sergeants in the army who had been recommended for commissions as officers, but their applications had been filed previous to April 6th.

Judge Poindexter said in dismissing the naturalization applications of the Germans that it seemed an opportune time to issue a warning against treason or misprision of treason. High treason he explained consisted of deliberate acts against the United States and was punishable by death.

Misprision, he said, is the retention of the knowledge of treasonable acts or intentions of an enemy alien of the United States committed or planned by others. He emphasized that it was absolutely necessary if any such knowledge came to any person amenable to the laws of this country that he report it immediately to the president or some judge or justice of such state as that in which the informant resided.

"Those proven guilty of treason or misprision of treason in this court will be given the maximum penalty," Judge Poindexter declared. Turning to the Germans before him he said: "Then penalty for misprision of treason would incur a sentence longer in years than this war will last."

Afterwards, Judge Poindexter said that he believed it his duty to impress upon them that they would be guilty of a grave crime if they failed to report the treasonable acts of any of their countrymen to the proper authorities. "Their knowledge of German might bring their such knowledge," the judge said. He also said that he thought it important that all residents know of the severe penalty which would be imposed for failure to report treasonable remarks and acts.

The law regarding the misprision of treason, although an old statute is not generally known to the average layman. The section fixing the penalty reads as follows:

"Whoever owing allegiance to the United States and having knowledge of the commission of any treason against them, conceals, and does not, as soon as may be, disclose and make known the same to the President or to some judge or justice of a particular state, is guilty of misprision of treason and shall be imprisoned not more than seven years and fined not more than $1000."

The Germans whose applications were dismissed were Max Alfred Zauhl, Max Lange, William Nicolas, Karstner, Charles Frederick Wilhelm Henning and Frederick Rauscher.

The latter is one who has nearly all his life believed himself to be a citizen of the United States and who has voted for 20 years, and held positions in which citizenship is imperative. Rauscher at one time was a sheriff of a California county. He was born in Germany and came to this country when 9 years of age. Before he reached his majority his parents died and he was adopted by an uncle who was a citizen of the United States. On this account he believed himself a citizen and never questioned until the war started. In dismissing his application, Judge Poindexter said "you'll have to remain a German like the rest, at least until the war is over."

When he put several pints of oil in his engine and started it going, Antonio Rodriguez, a driver on the King street automobile stand, which is next to E. O. Hall & Son, caused his machine to smoke so that he attracted quite a crowd a little before noon this morning. There was disappointment to find that there was no fire, however, and that the automobile was only being cleaned out.
